

WHS Harmonisation Breakfast & Information Session

Thursday 1st March, 2012

The Garrison Room, Bankstown Sports Club, Greenfield Parade, Bankstown

On 1st January, 2012 new work health and safety laws commenced in the Commonwealth, New South Wales, Queensland, the Australian Capital Territory, and the Northern Territory. The states Victoria, Western Australia and Tasmania, have deferred the implementation for a further 12 months and South Australian parliament have voted to adjourn the debate on the WHS Bill until 14 February 2012, where a commencement date for the new laws is yet to be decided by parliament.

As you would be aware, all businesses will be required to adopt changes in Workplace Health and Safety as they are enacted in each State.

At a top level the key changes will include:

- WH&S Consulting
- Enhanced roles for workplace health and safety representatives
- Changes in the roles of trade unions
- Changes in law court jurisdiction
- Revision of penalty and offence structures
- Revision of due diligence obligations

Due to the success of our previous Breakfast/Information Session held in November 2011, we are holding an additional session where we will provide an overview of the new legislation, and answer any concerns or questions you have about compliance or Workplace Health and Safety issues.

Registration and pre-payment is essential. Booking deadline is 23rd February, 2012.
